

As part of Continental's global strategy, Continental will be replacing their current Elite helicog belt construction with the new OE Technology Series straight rib design. This will be a running change and during the transition you will see both belts in the market. Our goal is to deliver OE fit, form, and function to the aftermarket. We apologize for any confusion that may occur during the transition.

What's Different?

Continental OE Technology Series

- New construction and compounding improves durability for a longer lasting, quieter ride.
- Continental is a major supplier to domestic and foreign OE manufacturers. The Continental belt delivers OE expertise and OE innovation to the aftermarket.
- Straight-ribbed construction widely recognized by professional repair technicians.

Continental Elite

- Unique, staggered helicog profile reduces heat for a quiet long lasting belt.
- Track-to-Street technology.
- Originally designed to combat problem drives.
